Report of the Interim Dean
Libraries and Media Centers
Murle E. Kenerson

Two important milestones occurred during the 2016-17 academic year. The Tennessee State University family lost one of its beloved former coaches, faculty member, friend, and mentor - Coach Edward Stanley Temple. He passed away on September 22, 2016 at his home, two days short of his eighty-ninth birthday. He earned his place in the annals of sports history by coaching the TSU Tigerbelles to twenty-three Olympic Medals during his career and numerous national and international medals. The Library has always held a special place in our hearts for Coach, where he spent his final days in his third floor office sharing memories with our Special Collections and library staff. The Library maintains permanent displays on our first and third floors of our friends' memories where his legacy will be memorialized there in perpetuity.

Secondly, TSU's Board of Trustees held their first meeting in Hankal Hall on April 13, 2017. President Glenda Baskin Glover provided opening remarks and welcomed the board members. Governor Bill Haslam, who was on hand for the inaugural event, commented that "this is a historic day for Tennessee State University and is something that we as a state have talked about and thought about for a long time. TSU Board of Trustees is a group of highly accomplished individuals who are completely focused on the perspectives of the students, faculty and alumni and are committed to moving the university forward."

Board membership consists of the following: Dr. Joseph W. Walker III, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church of Nashville and presiding Bishop of the Full Gospel Baptist Church Fellowship, International. He was selected as chair of the board; corporate executive Dr. Deborah A. Cole as vice chair. Dr. Cole is president and CEO of Citizens Savings Bank and Trust Company in Nashville.; Mr. Stephen Corbeil, President of TriStar, Division of HCA; Mr. Bill Freeman, Chair of Freeman Webb, Inc. Real Estate Development Firm; Dr. Richard Lewis, Owner of Lewis & Wright Funeral Home; Ms. Pam Martin, President of Cushion Employer Services; Mr. Obie McKenzie, Managing Director of Black Rock, Inc.; Dr. Edith Peterson Mitchell, Immediate Past President of the National Medical Association; TSU faculty representative Dr. Ali Sekman; and Nashville native Ms. Sydnie Davis was appointed as the student trustee to round out the mandated 10-member board.

Throughout these seminal events the Library, as expected, delivered excellent customer service via information literacy instruction to on-ground and online classes. Our Reference Librarians taught 113 classes consisting of 1,717 students. Our Embedded Librarian Program made its services available to fifty-nine (59) classes consisting of 1,303 students. Additional statistics related to database access and other library services are found in the Appendices.

During the fall and spring semesters the Library Commons and Multimedia Center were fully occupied by students completing projects and assignments for their class requirements. The Avon Williams Campus Library provided excellent customer service and continued to engage the University community and community at-large with art exhibit receptions for gifted artists and book talks. Our Media Center's staff answered each call to videotape University events including commencements, convocations, lyceum series, etc.

Several programs were up for reaccreditation/reaffirmation by their professional accrediting bodies. They included Aeronautical and Industrial Technology, Occupational Therapy, College of Education, Music, Nursing and Social Work. The library prepared reports for each of these areas which included resources and services that supported their programs. These reports included databases, books, ebooks, periodicals, eperiodicals, five-year spending reports on books, hours of operations, and other services. All areas were reaffirmed.

Four of our colleagues presented at conferences around the country. Mr. Fletcher Moon attended the National Association of African American Studies (NAAAS) conference in Dallas, TX and presented a paper on coach Temple entitled “ An Extra-Ordinary Man: Tennessee State University and U.S. Olympic Women’s Track and Field Coach Edward S Temple (1927-2016).” His presentation was published in our repository and cited in the online publication TSU in the News. Ms. Glenda Alvin attended the American Library Association held in Chicago and presented a paper entitled “Wikipedia: Black History Edit-a-thon@Tennessee State University.” Ms. Alvin was also selected as the Convener/Chair of the ACRL/African American Studies Librarians Interest Group (AASLIG). The organization has approximately 200 members and she will be responsible for arranging the Midwinter ALA Meeting and the meeting at the Summer ALA in New Orleans. She will be responsible for organizing the Research Forum for this group that will take place in New Orleans. Ms. Alvin has also been appointed as the ACRL Liaison to the Association for the Study of African American Life and History (ASALA). Mr. Anthony Prince and Ms. Julia Huskey attended the Tennessee Library Association and co-presented a paper entitled “Redefining Cataloging”. Ms. Vandy Owen served as TLA Chair for the 2016-17 term. Mr. Michael Doster has been invited as a guest speaker at the Third Annual B.B. King Day Symposium to be held at Mississippi Valley State University during September 6-8, 2017. Michael played and travelled with B.B. King all over the world for seventeen year. Dr. Alphonso Sanders, an organizer of the symposium, said of Michael, “your appearance and intellectual contribution is paramount to achieving music history and continuing the legacy of B.B. King.”

In January of this year the Library received official notification from the Government Publishing (formerly Printing) Office in Washington, D.C. that 2017 marks 45 years since Tennessee State University became part of the Federal Depository Libraries Program (FDLP). As a result, in commemoration of this milestone the Library will host a program recognizing the history of our depository status from 1972 (when Miss Lois Daniel’s application for depository status was approved by GPO) to the present. With help from GPO, TSU Special Collections/Archives, and other sources, we are in the process of identifying and recognizing all the library directors/deans and designated depository librarians who have worked with our documents collection over the last 45. We have invited the Honorable Davita Vance-Cooks, Director, U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO), several government dignitaries, and others to join us in celebrating this event. Ms. Vance-Cooks is the first African American to hold the post of Director of GPO. The proposed time for the event is Wednesday, October 11, 2017 at 12:00 noon in the Brown-Daniel Library.

Ms. Lynetta Alexander, our colleague for over twenty-one years, retired on July 5, 2017. We will miss her wit and eclectic persona. We are certain that Lynetta will leap into the next stage of her life and let her heart guide her steps. We wish Lynetta the best and hope that she spends quality time with her children and grandchildren.

Also our colleague, Dr. Janet Walsh, resigned on July 31, 2017 after nearly five years of service. Janet has accepted a position with a highly respected library vendor – YBP (EBSCO). The Library and University benefited from her leadership and management skills, energetic personality, excellent customer service to patrons and her outreach to the community at-large. Janet has left the Avon Williams Campus Library a better place than she found it due to her hard work, assertive personality, and goal oriented style. We will miss her greatly and we wish her well in her new endeavor.

We express our sincere gratitude for Lynetta’s and Janet’s diligent service to the Library and University for their tireless work in assisting students. Their contribution to the profession is immeasurable and we will certainly miss their presence.

Last year ended with our library retreat in the Farrell/Westbrook Building (Barn). The retreat featured a demonstration of a 3D printer, presented by Mr. Jarvis Sheffield (precursor to our mini-makerspace), active shooter training conducted by Captain Tony Blakely, customer service in the library, conducted by Dr. Janet Walsh; health assessment, presented by Ms. Anita Chesney, and mind/soul/relaxation techniques, presented by Ms. Dana Jean Costantino. The retreat was a great success.

The idea and genesis of establishing a Makerspace grew out of our Deans Council Meeting. I volunteered to develop a proposal to establish a Makerspace. A Makerspace is a space where an environment is created to provide students incentives to be innovative. They basically consist of a 3D printer, digital scanner and computer. Makerspaces feed directly into STEAM objectives directly – the development of critical thinking, problem-solving, exploration, and experimentation. Students will be encouraged to think and consider areas and fields they have never been exposed to before. We are in the process of developing a handbook and procedure guide. With an ongoing effort in finding funding, I decided to create a mini-makerspace within the library while continuing to look for funding opportunities.

I serve as a member on the following councils and organizations:

- TBR Dean's and Director's Council
- Dean's Council
- 1890 Dean's and Director's Association
- Graduate and Professional Studies Council
- HBCU Library Alliance Council
- TN Agriculture Museum Board member
- TSU Federal Credit Union Board Member
- Presidential Administrative Council

During the 2016 - 2017 academic/fiscal year, I managed projects for both Sierra and Encore server upgrades. Our Sierra was running a 32-bit based Red Hat Enterprise Linux Server release 5.11, and needed a 64-bit based operating system for the Sierra upgrade. The library upgraded our 32-bit based operating system to a 64-bit based operating system for our Sierra application server, and later on upgraded Sierra to the most current release 3.1. I increased the memory on our Encore server from 12GB to 24GB to meet the hardware specifications for the Encore upgrade. Encore has been upgraded to the most current release 4.6 SP1, and the Encore displays were customized. I continued to manage EZproxy for remote access to TSU library databases, electronic journals and ebooks for the TSU eLearn and TN eCampus. With more databases transitioning to the https protocol, the SAN SSL certificate for the Sierra server was upgraded from one that covers up to 25 domains to the one that covers up to 50 domains. My other systems accomplishments included maintenance of the SSL certificates for Sierra, Encore, and Ezproxy.

I performed database maintenance and problem solving for electronic resources and patron records, as well as updated various systems settings and implemented system enhancement features. After I inventoried the MARC records for old Main Campus Media Center equipment, records for the new equipment were created in Sierra.

The inventory for the downtown campus library was completed in June 2017, providing us with more accurate records of our holdings. Due to a library flood incident in September 2016, I also coordinated the inventory for the flood damaged books. My supervision of the Circa inventory process included coordinating the inventory workflow, creating system codes and inventory problems reports, globally updating records, and compiling the inventory summary reports for the state auditor and the insurance company, as well as troubleshooting bugs and glitches.

In collaboration with the Government Documents Librarian, I cleaned up the MARC records, and created the government documents PURL usage statistics, and assisted with the preparation for the government documents site visit for the library's federal depository operation and services.

As the digital repository administrator, I continue to upload and manage articles, theses, dissertations, and e-journals in the Digital Scholarship @ Tennessee State University. At the same time, I finished the setup, design and customization of a new electronic journal structure, Annals of Management Science, and uploaded the contents of six issues of the journal that is edited by Dr. Joel Jolayemi, Professor of Operations and Supply Chain Management, College of Business. We are grateful for his contribution to our research repository.

Other activities included:

- Serving as a member of the University Assessment and Improvement Council, which has responsibility for uploading the Deans and the departmental reports in Compliance Assist!;
- Created the library statistical reports for management and accreditation for various accrediting bodies;
- Served as a member of the Library Technology Council and
- Served as a member of the Web Design Committee.

There is one more year remaining on my term as an Innovative Users Group (IUG) Enhancements Functional Expert (FE) for the Cataloging, Database Maintenance, & Authority Control group. Innovative Interfaces, Inc. is in transition of the enhancements process. The Functional Experts take part in efforts to create new procedures and workflows for the enhancements process, import existing requests from the old database to the new, create documentation, and use the new software to manage enhancement requests. The FY 2016 - 17 fiscal/academic year was a productive year, and I look forward to another successful year with the library.

Library Web Master

Phil Yan

During FY 2016-2017 my major responsibilities as library webmaster involved constructing the library's new website from scratch, daily routine maintenance of the library web pages, debugging and repairing bad URLs, troubleshooting vendor database errors reported by our patrons (staff, faculty and students) and working closely with our vendor contacts in several technical support offices in debugging various technical issues. Additional responsibilities involved maintenance of the Web Access Management (WAM) table in Sierra in order that statistical reports show proper accounting. I created new web pages/images as needed and updates for web content whenever necessary. This process guarantees patron's access to subscription databases and other related issues on our website. Old web pages had to be rebuilt to properly display our newer web server, ww2.tnstate.edu/library.

I served as a web consultant to other offices and departments on campus and assisted in the development of some of the following web projects: 1) Web Survey forms and databases for the English Department, WRITE Studio as well as the Library, 2) Database management for the English Department, Graphic design for TSU periodicals, serials and books, and 3) Website creation and other technical support issues for other TSU offices.

For the coming year, I plan to work closely with IT department, Public Relations and other offices as well as our library staff to enhance the performance and reliability of the library website by using up-to-date technology such as cloud computing, and software so that the library will stand out as a leading resource of information.

Accomplishments and Activities

Phil Yan

Library Webmaster

- Created new web pages for the new Library website (mobile version) as needed i.e., continuing to transfer files/pages/images from the old server to the new mobile friendly TSU website
- Provided maintenance of the Library website (debugging, testing, replacement, new creation, updating, etc.)
- Designed Graphics for the library and other offices
- Created and updated web pages for our Art Corner web pages (both Main and Avon Williams Campus Libraries)
- Provided continuous maintenance of the WAM and the Classic Catalog
- Created and maintained the Library Access Statistics Data Collection System and its presentation on our website
- Created and maintained web pages for the WRITE Studio
- Deployed new software/ device for the WRITE Studio and other offices
- Maintained the TSU Academic Courses Data collection and presentation
- Checked possible New Cloud Computing devices for the library to enhance our web presentation
- Created Survey Forms and other forms for library and other offices on campus
- Keep abreast of best practices with other academic institutions to enhance web presentation
- Collaborated with IT staff to utilize the potentials of the new TSU website.
- Collaborated with various vendor technical support to troubleshoot various technological issues
- Help with the Scanning Project of the Special Collections Department
- Tech Support for Library staff members who needs help with computer software and devices
- Maintain Archived Old Library files and web pages
- Other duties as needed

Reference Department

Fletcher F. Moon, Associate Professor and Department Head

The 2016-2017 academic/fiscal year was one with many monumental moments and major changes/transitions for the Reference Department, Library, and University. We partnered with Special Collections in supporting University and Nashville community celebrations of the life of TSU/Olympic legend and longtime Library friend/supporter Coach Edward S. Temple after his passing in September 2016, and during the same month experienced major water damage in our area (as well as the first and third floors of the building) which impacted Reference and government documents print collections, some study room/office locations, ceiling, carpeting, and access to one of the Library classrooms. We also marked the retirement of longtime Reference faculty colleague Anita Etheridge in January 2017, welcomed new colleague Angel Sloss as Assistant Professor and Reference/Government Documents Librarian in February 2017, adjusted to the extended absence of Nancy Henthorne due to knee surgery/rehab, and began the process to replace Lynetta Alexander, who announced her upcoming retirement in July 2017.

Even with these challenges and transitions, we continued initiatives involving information literacy; embedded librarian relationships; interlibrary transactions; government documents/depository collection maintenance and development; technology and general maintenance/upgrades in the department and public service areas (second floor and third floor library classrooms); expansion of multimedia/computer-based resources, applications, equipment, and facilities; continued use of the University's Events Management System (EMS) for booking/scheduling of meetings, classes, training workshops, and other activities in the Library classrooms and conference room; as well as general information/reference services to users on and off campus in a variety of formats.

Staffing of faculty/staff in the department remained consistent throughout regular and extended service hours/schedules during the year. The continued availability/faster response times of security personnel when needed in support of problematic situations in the department and other public service areas remained greatly appreciated, especially on evenings during fall and spring semesters when there is a high volume of students and other users. This remained the case even though there were changes involving the security company contracted by the University to supplement the work of the TSU Police Department.

The faculty/staff in the department also completed the required University training on recognizing/preventing workplace harassment and discrimination via in-person workshops or use of its online training modules. Several persons also attended TSU Human Relations workshops/viewed webinars related to employee concerns such as safety in the workplace; retirement planning and options; conflict resolution; etc.

The two electronic “smart” classrooms (315 and 317) continued to be requested for use on a daily basis via the EMS, as well as phone, e-mail, and in-person inquiries. Activities included information literacy, bibliographic instruction, and/or library orientation for various academic departments and programs as well as online testing and/or training workshops for units including health sciences/nursing; institutional effectiveness and planning; testing center; graduate school; information technology/IT; athletics; residence life; human resources; business and finance/travel office; and career development. The department also continued to provide assistance to users in accessing admissions/financial aid/advisement information during registration periods. The classrooms also continued to be used by several English instructors as “online writing laboratories”.

The EMS was helpful in balancing the technology/space needs of individual instructors/professors with those of departments and other University units. The Library conference room (also listed in the system) was frequently requested and used for Graduate Council and Library Council meetings; vendor/product demonstrations; meetings with accreditation reviewers and visiting researchers; and other Library department/committee meetings.

Online reference via the “Referencedesk/Ask Us” links on the Library website (homepage) generated additional inquiries from a variety of users, with off-campus access procedures, issues, and problems still among the most “FAQs” (frequently asked questions). Responses from the reference faculty/staff almost always began with confirmation of the user’s status/affiliation with the University as a prerequisite to accessing specific electronic resources. As mentioned earlier, the department was most heavily used during the fall and spring semesters, with much lighter traffic for programs such as “Extreme Spring Break” and “Maymester”.

Similar to last year, the last month of the academic/fiscal year (June 2017) was busier than usual, with several different activities taking place as the University and Library again transitioned to its summer four-day work week/schedule. The Library and department hosted tours/presentations for several student summer programs including Upward Bound; visiting international students from South America (Colombia) and South Africa; the SITES Academic Summer Camp (STEM students); and the Be Ready Summer Camp (computer science).

As indicated above, the Reference Department experienced another very productive year in supporting the teaching, research, and public service missions of the University. Following are more highlights, accomplishments, and achievements of the faculty and staff members of the department:

Fletcher Moon continued to coordinate schedules of faculty/staff in the department, including assignments of information literacy presentations for undergraduate and graduate classes as well as desk schedules and monitoring of online reference modules. He also continued service on a number of University and Library committees during the year, including the Center for Entrepreneurship and Economic Development (CEED) Task Force; Campus-Wide Public Relations Team; Library Technology Committee, and chaired the search/selection committee for Assistant Professor/Reference and Government Documents Librarian. Upon the hiring of Angel Sloss, he also provided orientation to Library and departmental responsibilities and schedules, along with opportunities for her to become involved in activities such as Information Literacy, government documents webinars, the University Research Symposium, and plans to commemorate TSU's 45 years as a Federal depository during Homecoming in Fall 2017. Fletcher and Michael Doster also provided music for the May 2017 graduation celebration of nontraditional student Darlene Mullins, whose story became a national/Internet sensation when she completed her TSU degree 55 years after first enrolling in 1962. In several reports and interviews Mrs. Mullins cited library assistance as essential to the realization of her dream.

In addition, Fletcher participated in Library Council and staff meetings; helped facilitate displays of photographs, trophies, and other memorabilia for the Ed Temple memorial services on campus (September 30) and at Clark Memorial United Methodist Church (October 1); worked closely with Dr. Kenerson and other colleagues in documenting the extent of the Library's water damage and necessary repair/replacement of items and materials with TSU Facilities Management, State insurance adjusters, and the Balfor disaster management company; wrote a biographical profile on Coach Temple and collaborated with TSU history professor Dr. Learotha Williams on a historical profile of Fisk University's iconic Jubilee Hall for the 2017 Local Conference on African American History; traveled to Dallas, Texas to present a paper on Coach Temple at the National Association for African American Studies Conference on February 15; completed selected research/entries for a new edition of the reference work, Encyclopedia of African American Business; served as a judge of undergraduate and graduate student posters and presentations during the annual University-Wide Research Symposium in April 2017; met with Lt. Col. Sharon Presley (TSU AFROTC Detachment 790 Commander) to facilitate additional documentation and recognition of TSU alumnus William McBryar as a Buffalo Soldier and Congressional Medal of Honor awardee in June 2017; met with College of Liberal Arts Associate Dean Dr. Joel Dark regarding a National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) grant proposal involving the Avon Williams Papers/Collection; represented Library/University at commemoration/remembrance services for Nashville lynching victims at Fisk Memorial Chapel and St. Anselm's Episcopal Church sponsored by the Tennessee Episcopal diocese, David Lipscomb University, and the Christian Scholars Conference; hosted colleagues from David Lipscomb and Tuskegee universities seeking insight into archival processes (including Lipscomb library director/ former TSU librarian Sandra Parham).

Fletcher also continued regular administrative processes related to the department, including completion of annual evaluations/performance reviews; writing/editing reports and documents as necessary during the year; and helping to facilitate retirement celebrations for Anita Etheridge (December 2016) and Lynetta Alexander (June 2017).

Government Documents

Anita Etheridge, Assistant Professor & former Government Documents Librarian

Angel Sloss, Assistant Professor & Current Government Documents Librarian

Prior to her retirement in January 2017, Anita Etheridge spearheaded preparations for a site visit of the TSU depository collection by representatives from the Government Publishing Office in July 2016. During that month she also facilitated an art exhibit of works by her late brother-in-law, Oba Don Etheridge, at the Avon Williams Campus Library. Anita also continued daily information/reference desk schedules; monitoring of information sources related to news/current events and Federal/government documents; completed mandatory reports related to the depository collection; updated the documents shelflist using the Document Data Miner 2 software/system; maintained periodical browsing/other display areas and ordered/updated government documents promotional materials; facilitated continuous review/weeding of the collection as necessary; conducted information literacy/bibliographic instruction and/or library orientations as scheduled/requested.

As second in seniority among the Reference faculty, Anita also served as head of the department and attended Library Council meetings when Fletcher Moon was absent or unavailable. Her revision/updating of the Library disaster/emergency procedures manual came into play as a valuable resource after the Library “Flood of 2016”, as well as her detailed manual of Government Documents collection policies, procedures, and guidelines, which was of great assistance to the ad hoc/interim documents committee (Julie Huskey, Linda, Bell, Sharon Hull Smith, and Colette Bradley) and to Angel Sloss during her first months on the job. This enabled the continuation of daily and monthly maintenance, statistics, and reports related to the government documents collection; retrospective piece-level processing of government documents in collection dating from 1972 to 1995; processing of new items for the collection; and other required activities.

Anita also served on the Faculty Senate Grievance Committee; Departmental Tenure/Promotion Committee; Research Databases Committee, and the search/selection committee for her replacement. She also participated in several online and/or in-person government documents seminars sponsored by the Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL); Government Printing Office (GPO); Government Documents Roundtable (GODORT); and Tennessee government documents librarians, including Depository Library Council virtual meetings and their Fall 2016 workshop; and webinars on PC-based depository processes/systems. She also attended her final national Depository Library Council meeting in Washington, DC (October 2016) and subsequently received many commendations and congratulations on her service and impending retirement, including a letter from the office of the Superintendent of Documents, Government Publishing Office.

Angel Sloss reports that since beginning work in the department, Library, and University in February 2017, she immediately became involved with duties, responsibilities, and activities related to her information/reference and documents librarian roles. This included providing information/reference services to students and other Library users; conducting and/or co-presenting information literacy sessions; assuming library liaison relationships with designated academic departments; meeting with the interim government documents committee as she transitioned into day-to-day work with the collections; participating in online training webinars related to government documents and establishing relationships with other documents librarians locally and regionally. She embarked upon a major rearrangement, preservation, and weeding project which was also spurred by the portion of the collection that was water-damaged in September 2016, frequently consulting with GPO and the regional depository regarding proper procedures, and participated in her first government documents virtual/national conference.

In addition, Angel attended the Local African American History Conference at the Avon Williams Campus, Tennessee Library Association conference in Knoxville, the African American Historical and Genealogical Society meeting at the Nashville Public Library, and a University tribute to Communications faculty. She also served as a judge for the University Research Symposium; made presentations to the TSU Writing Center on gaming/educational technology for tutorial applications and the TRIO/Upward Bound program on campus/library interactions; participated in departmental/Library meetings, art exhibit openings, and Spring 2017 Commencement; submitted a “Government Documents Road Show” presentation proposal to Tenn-Share for their October 2017 conference; met with Metro teacher Ms. Keisha Morrow regarding government documents related to K-12 education; and began discussions, research, and planning for a 45th anniversary celebration of TSU depository status (tentatively scheduled for TSU Homecoming week in October 2017)..

Embedded Librarian Program

Barbara VanHooser, Associate Professor

Barbara Vanhooser reports that in addition to regular information/reference desk responsibilities, she continued to spend a great deal of time involved in activities related to the embedded librarian program (discussed in more detail below), including ongoing collaboration with teaching faculty and students; establishing and maintaining contact with them via e-mails, phone calls, and/or in-person consultations; and staying abreast of technological developments impacting online/distance education and library services. Barbara continued to use Camtasia video/editing software to create library orientation videos for online courses upon demand/as necessary and assess the effectiveness of the videos; follow up with students from past embedded classes; and helped with work/research assignments from other “non-embedded” classes. In addition, she also continued as a co-facilitator of the Library Book Discussion Group with Lynetta Alexander; served on the University Tenure/Promotion Appeals Committee and as secretary of the Faculty Senate Library Committee; participated as a judge for poster/presentation sessions during the University Research Symposium in April 2016; served on the search/selection committee for the Assistant Professor and Reference/Government

Documents Librarian position; and coordinated interlibrary services for the main campus during the absence of Nancy Henthorne.

Embedded Librarian Program

The program has now been in operation for over ten years and increased in size and visibility while continuing efforts to impact traditional, Web-enhanced, hybrid (combination of on-ground and online components), and fully online courses offered by TSU academic disciplines independently or as part of TN E-Campus (formerly the Regents Online Degree Program/RODP). This initiative continues to provide additional support to students in successful use of library/information resources across disciplines, with the desired result of improving student outcomes related to grades, retention, and graduation in line with University and state mandates.

Undergraduate, graduate, first-year, first-generation, and nontraditional students continued to benefit from the program during 2016-2017, based on relationships with teaching faculty and embedded librarians. Information literacy concepts and skills such as selecting and refining research topics; finding and evaluating the quality of research sources; and proper documentation of research in various style formats such as MLA and APA, have been reinforced through multiple sessions, interactions, and assignments where the embedded librarian is available in-person and/or online to provide additional assistance. Classes (regardless of format) require students to write research papers and to effectively use library resources, and the embedded librarian program provides a means to “meet students where they are” in terms of their library/research skills and knowledge.

Barbara VanHooser continued to keep a log of incoming e-mails specifically related to embedded courses, in the attempt to respond to as many as possible in a timely fashion. Her involvement can vary from very minimal assistance in the class/group setting to extensive “one-on-one” contact and communication with individual students; in some instances, consultation with the embedded librarian is a class assignment or requirement, while in other cases her involvement is part of designated “research days” for courses.

Library Book Discussion Group

Lynetta Alexander, Assistant Professor & Reference Librarian

Lynetta Alexander continued to “anchor” information/reference services and other responsibilities during her regular schedules, which primarily involve afternoon, evening, and weekend hours when she is the primary contact person in the department. With heavy usage of the Library and the department (especially evenings during fall and spring semesters), she handled a variety of in-person, telephone, and/or e-mail reference inquiries in all academic disciplines, proving that “traditional “ reference still thrives along with electronic access to information, and continued to maintain a comprehensive log of reference inquiries/questions and transactions. She also reports that the information literacy presentations she made during the year were well-received (sometimes to the point of applause at the conclusion, with compliments from faculty colleagues as well as students). Her regular schedule precludes assignments for morning classes, yet she has on occasion come in early to conduct presentations as needed or requested.

Lynetta also continued to report increased visibility and faster responses of TSU Police as related to problems/behavior of students and others in the Library during evening hours of service, while also noting ongoing and potential issues with technology/equipment availability and proper use, as well as lost/misplaced/stolen personal items of Library users (i.e., flash drives, cell phones, laptops, backpacks, etc.). She also continued work in selecting new titles and weeding older items from the print reference collection; library liaison and book selection activities with/for dental hygiene, occupational therapy, and health information management departments; continued efforts toward establishing a “sick-leave bank” for faculty in collaboration with the Faculty Senate Benefits and Welfare Committee; and participated in meetings of the University Research, Library Research Databases, and search/selection committee for Assistant Professor and Reference/Government Documents Librarian.

In addition, Lynetta continued to schedule and co-facilitate meetings of the TSU Library Book Discussion group with Barbara VanHooser, whose activities were publicized via University Communications and reading selections added to the Library website during the year. She also continued work with a committee responsible for the rotation of Library Art Corner displays/artists; along with community service/volunteering for Reading is Fundamental (RIF), Tennessee Arts and Crafts Association (TACA), and other civic/community organizations.

Interlibrary Loan & Document Delivery

Nancy Henthorne, Assistant Professor, Ill & Reference Librarian

Nancy Henthorne reports that prior to her injury, surgery, and rehabilitation/physical therapy she continued her regular reference and interlibrary service responsibilities and transactions; conducted information literacy presentations as scheduled/requested; participated in Reference Department and Library committee meetings; served on the Assistant Professor/Reference and Government Documents Librarian search/selection committee; attended and completed University workshops on diversity, preventing discrimination and harassment, and benefits/retirement information; facilitated access to the Multimedia Learning Commons as necessary; and changed system backup tapes on weekends/as necessary. She also attended Fall 2016 and Spring 2017 Faculty/Staff Institute meetings; participated in Interlibrary Services committee meetings; ordered books for designated departments/units as part of the Library Liaison program; shelved books and assisted with general collection maintenance; assisted users with scanning and local faxing from equipment in the Reference Department; and substituted for other evening/weekend staff in the department as needed. In addition, Nancy spearheaded logistical and financial arrangements, gift selections, decorations, and/or food connected with the retirement celebrations for Anita Etheridge and Lynetta Alexander.

Technical Support and Reference Help Desk

Library Assistant III

Michael Doster continued to serve as the department's primary liaison with IT, as well as Ellucian technical support staff contracted by the University, and continued to address and document a variety of hardware, software, and other technical issues on a regular basis during the year. He placed 170 work orders with IT during 2018-2017, and followed up with technical support staff to ensure that issues were addressed and/or resolved as quickly as possible. Michael also reports that he responded to 265 online reference inquiries during the year via the "Referencedesk/Ask Us" e-mail link on the Library website (an increase from 245 during 2015-2016), and referred questions to other Library faculty/staff for additional assistance as requested/necessary. The majority (254) were confirmation e-mails related to article requests via the "Get It Now" document delivery service, forwarded to Glenda Alvin as these are also financial transactions, while other submissions were answered and/or forwarded to other areas (i.e., Special Collections) as necessary. He also assisted with tape/system backup procedures related to the Library's Sierra online catalog, and continued to address user behavior issues via established Library and University policies and procedures/steps during his regular work schedules as well as overtime duties on designated 24-hour library openings at midterm and final exam periods in Fall 2016 and Spring 2017.

Michael again shared his musical talents as part of the TSU Wesley Foundation Community Jazz Band concert (April, 2017) and the graduation celebration for TSU non-traditional student Mrs. Darlene Mullins (May 2017), along with other performances in cooperation with the TSU Music Department and in local/regional venues. In addition, he joined fellow alumni of the B.B. King touring band in a documentary film project involving travel to Memphis and Mississippi.

Evening Support/Anchor

Randyl Johnson, Library Assistant III part-time

Randyl Johnson continued to deal with many of the same routines, issues, and problems as others in the department during his late evening and weekend schedules, including contacting/informing Library colleagues and/or TSU Polices when students/users refused to comply with Library policies. His consistent attendance and diligence has enabled him to manage the department well when he is the remaining staff member until closing times. Randyl also adjusted his other work schedules as necessary to get Library work hours in when evening hours were temporarily suspended at different points during the year (between Fall 2016 and Spring 2017 semesters; May 2017; and June, 2017, when the Library/University continued its 4-day summer work week and shorter service hours.

Special Collections and Archives

Sharon Hull Smith, Assistant Professor & Head

Special Collections and Archives completed a challenging, yet successful academic/fiscal year in 2016 - 2017. We provided services to 2,200 patrons, including in-person and e-mail inquiries; telephone requests; tours to the area; hits (online access) to the Special Collections homepage; access to items on the Library's Docutek server; Digital Research@Tennessee State University archive files; and assistance to patrons seeking help with informational and directional questions related to books and classroom locations on the third floor of the library.

At the Library retreat held on Friday, August 12, 2016, Special Collections Library Assistant III Jarvis Sheffield did an excellent presentation/demonstration of Makerspace technology. His expertise and hands-on experience was utilized in grant applications submitted by the Library to incorporate a makerspace as part of our available equipment, resources, and services to students and other Library users.

Dr. Bobby Lovett, retired professor of History and former Dean of the TSU College of Arts & Sciences, completed his volunteer work on processing his collection.

We received the sad news that our dear friend Coach Edward S. Temple died on September 22, 2016. Special Collections was immediately thrust into the spotlight with requests from media, faculty/staff, students, and the TSU community requesting information about him and access to his material. Because of the 22-year friendship with Coach Temple, this had a great personal as well as professional impact, and Ms. Smith is thankful for the additional support from other library staff/departments in helping deal with all the requests and logistics involved with all the related University activities, including setting up a display of photographs, awards, trophies, and other memorabilia in Kean Hall for the University memorial service, which received local, national, and international media coverage.

Ms. Sharon Smith and Fletcher Moon were asked to serve on the Coach Ed Temple Memorial Committee. The library was asked to help Public Relations turn the Ralph Boston Room in Kean Hall into a media/press interview room for the Temple family, TSU Olympians, Tigerbelles, sports/Olympic officials, and other visiting dignitaries including Tennessee Governor Bill Haslam. Because of the number of valuable/irreplaceable items on display, a guard was in place to make sure items were secured during this period.

The Coach Edward S. Temple Memorial was held on September 30, 2016 in Kean Hall with hundreds of people attending. The Media Room was a great success, especially with the TSU Olympians and Tigerbelles who were happy to see photos/items related to his (and their) many achievements and accomplishments. On Saturday, October 1, 2016 a Service of Celebration was held at Clark Memorial United Methodist Church, where friends/fellow church members/TSU colleagues Homer Wheaton and Sharon Hull Smith were among those selected by the family to give personal remarks and reflections on Coach Temple's life.

In addition, later in the year Ms. Smith was interviewed by author/journalist and TSU alumnus Dwight Lewis for his upcoming book on the TSU Tigerbelles. He wanted to get additional perspectives about Coach Temple's relationships to his family, the Tigerbelles, TSU and the Library during his retirement years, and his personal friendship.

Another major historical development involving Special Collections occurred when Col. Sharon Presley, the TSU AFROTC Detachment 790 Commander, came to inquire about Sgt. William McBryar. Through previous research she discovered that he was a Buffalo Soldier and Congressional Medal of Honor awardee who later worked at and was buried in Arlington National Cemetery, and had a TSU connection. We found an archival file on McBryar created by the late Vallie Pursley, and additional documentation that McBryar attended and graduated from TSU in 1935 (while in his seventies). Col. Presley has also located and purchased commemorative trading cards of McBryar, a book on Medal of Honor winners that mentions him, and has photographed his tombstone.

All this has been brought to the attention of University and military officials as well as historians, and plans are in progress regarding a major event/celebration of McBryar in connection with the University's 2017 Veterans Day commemoration on November 11. In addition, an essay by McBryar after his TSU graduation has been transcribed and uploaded to our Digital Scholarship at Tennessee State University platform.

I wish to thank everyone for a job well done. Listed below are our accomplishments and activities.

Circulation and Reserves
Mary Swanson, Manager

The Circulation department provides lending services of books and other library materials to students, faculty, staff and the citizens of Tennessee.

Functions:

- It operates on a daily basis with the staff checking-in and out of books and all other library materials
- Sends overdue notices and collects fine monies from overdue books
- Prepares statistics for library usage i.e. Inventory
- Provides technical assistance with computer and printer needs.
- Is responsible for shelving and shifting new books received.
- Answers general questions about the library and other related services

Circulation department is in the process of re-labeling call numbers that are worn out due to heavy usage. This project is nearing completion. Ms. Tammie Evans and Mr. Jim Paxman are overseeing this project. It is our goal to have the books look uniformed so that students can read the call numbers with ease.

The Circulation department is also in the process of weeding out outdated books to be discarded so that new ones can replace them. Weeding is an essential component of the library. Because of limited shelving space this process is necessary. Mrs. Michelle Vaughn, Stack Supervisor, is responsible for shifting books and creating space for new books as well as overseeing student workers.

The Circulation staff has attended some of the following workshop(s):

Harassment in the Workplace	Online Webinars
Cashier Workshop Training	Convocation
Commencement	Faculty/Staff Institute
African American History & Culture Conference	Circulation Conference in Memphis, TN

The staff includes:

Mary Swanson, Circulation Library Manager/Reserve
Tammie Evans, Library Assistant II
Vanessa Smith, Library Assistant I
Michelle Vaughn, Library Assistant III & Stack Supervisor
Jim Paxman, Circulation Librarian
Yusef Lighari, Library Assistant III

Collection Management

Acquisitions & Serials

Cataloging

Glenda Alvin

Associate Professor & Assistant Director for Collection Management

On July 1, 2016, I became the 2017 incoming Convener for the African American Studies Librarian Interest Group (AASLIG) which was formerly the African American Studies Section (AFAS). The American Colleges and Research Libraries division of the American Library Association (ALA), downgraded us from a section to an interest group due to a change in the number of required members for each group. I assisted the 2016 Convener, Holly S. Smith of Spelman College, with transitioning our website, listserv and a Facebook presence to the new organizational status. We had a virtual ALA Midwinter meeting and organized a Research Forum for the Summer ALA Conference.

I started the year off by organizing a successful staff retreat, which was held at the Barn in August. I received positive feedback about the program and the staff enjoyed the time away from the library and the learning experience.

In October, I attended the Tennessee Innovative Users Group Meeting at Middle Tennessee State University and in November 2017, I attended the Charleston Library Conference on Issues in Acquisitions and Serials. I am on the Program Committee and my task last year was to moderate a session. The conference publishes an academic journal, Against the Grain, and I am a contributing editor, with a column entitled, "Collection Management Matters." I published two articles: one on managing the results of inventories and another one on maintaining working relationships with University Business Departments.

The Tennessee Board of Regents (TBR) Libraries Accessibility Committee met monthly by telephone and made great progress. We have added quite a few vendor documents to the AIMT database and two of the members compiled a checklist to use with databases to evaluate their compliance with current recommended accessibility guidelines. I volunteered to serve on the subcommittee that will be evaluating the databases with the checklist and reporting back to the group.

For African American History Month in February 2017, I co-coordinated another Wikipedia Edit-A-Thon with Deborah Lilton from Vanderbilt University, who brought other colleagues with her. This one did not have the attendance the first one had during Women's History Month in 2016. In April, I participated in a panel entitled, "Shared Authority, Edited Stories: Wikipedia GLAM Experience in Nashville,” with librarians from Vanderbilt and the Nashville Public Library at the National Council on Public History Conference in Indianapolis. The American Library Association Annual Conference was held in Chicago in June 2017. I attended the Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL) Leadership meeting and AASLIG held a successful Research Forum. The quilt I made for the ALA Biblioquilters, which was auctioned for the Christopher Hoy Scholarship for a library school graduate student, made $235.

Acquisitions and Serials Department
Associate Professor & Assistant Director for Collection Development

This was another year without a budget increase, so we again experienced a juggling act with trying to make ends meet for our allocation for databases. It has become apparent that we will have to downsize or eliminate some databases, in order to live within our budget. We did not renew Docutek and asked the faculty to use elearn's module for electronic reserves. We did not renew three Nature ejournal titles, Naxos Jazz and Consumer Reports. We asked EBSCO to delay billing for some titles until the next fiscal year. We eliminated ReportLinker, a business database and replaced it with Mintel. We added the final JSTOR Arts and Sciences collection and picked up the education journals from Taylor and Francis, which were getting significant requests from our Get It Now Service. For an increase of only $2009 over our renewal amount, we added Proquest Social Sciences Premium database, which gave us access to fifteen more databases with either abstracts or full text, such as Proquest Education Journals and Linguistics Database.

Our three document delivery services received robust use. Get It Now from the Copyright Clearance Center receives requests weekly and the "Order Documents" deposit with ScienceDirect, is checked twice daily for requests. Our Wiley tokens service was completely depleted in two months, however, Get It Now provides articles from Wiley as well. The periodicals continue to be migrated from print to electronic. We discontinue subscriptions as access becomes available in databases that we intend to maintain as long as funds are available.

In late September, the library had a flood that affected books on all three floors, but did the most damage to the first floor in the E-H section. Those books were removed and sent to a restoration facility. The ones that could not be salvaged had to be replaced, which took a considerable amount of time to search in Amazon.com. After the final spreadsheet was submitted to the insurance company for state property (VeriClaim), we were approved for to receive $22,147.81 for 294 books.

We added a new vendor for our health sciences and nursing books, Rittenhouse, which can provided both print and e-books. The subject liaisons were trained to order books on the vendor's website and we implemented ordering via ftp from our Sierra system. The weeding of the circulation collection has progressed to the Q's and I am hopeful that we will be able to finish the project in 2017. The Summer Serials Project had a large number of titles transferred to archives since many of our print subscriptions have stopped. The Collection Development Policy was updated for 2017-2020.

WebBridge was updated and an adjustment was made to allow articles to be requested from Get It Now from the Wiley platform. ERM tickler system was updated to reflect the current renewal dates for the databases, but we will have to continue to tweak it.

In the fall of 2016, the cataloging librarians met and it was agreed that our periodical holdings in OCLC and Sierra needed to be completely revised. Over the years we had added and deleted titles, but the records were not always added or deleted from our catalog or OCLC. Both the Main and Avon Williams Campus required a complete inventory and revision. OCLC said that we could have one free re-load via a “data sync” project. We have been working all year to get this accomplished and are hopefully nearing the final stages.

Cataloging Department
Julie Huskey, Head of Cataloging
Anthony Prince, Cataloging Manager

The total number of volumes cataloged for the year was 5,223, and a slight increase over the previous year. Cataloging provided support for the libraries' continuing inventory project, particularly for the Avon Williams Campus Library. Over 1,700 items discovered during inventory at Avon Williams were cataloged: some were cataloged remotely, from lists compiled by Mitchell Chamberlain, and others during visits to the Avon Williams Campus library. The department also transferred or deleted items identified during weeding projects.

Authority control and general database maintenance continued to be a priority for the department. Anthony produced monthly headings reports in Sierra to detect blind headings or other headings needing attention. I consulted OCLC's weekly "Closed dates in authority records" and the monthly "Library of Congress Subject Heading" approved lists to provide consistency in access points. We identified inconsistencies in character coding that caused names with diacritics and other special characters to display incorrectly, and we corrected many of the more common occurrences.

Anthony weeded almost 250 CDs and floppy disks from the collection. Items to be withdrawn from the collection were processed, listed in an Excel spreadsheet, and offered on the Tennessee Board of Regents email list before being discarded. The department also led the weeding of ERIC microfiche. By removing sheets of fiche for documents available online, the number of cabinets required was reduced from to seventeen to six.

Anthony and I were among the many staff members who assisted with cleanup from a flood that affected the first and second floors of the library in the fall.

Three student assistants – one in the fall and two in the spring -- worked in the department this year, for a total of 177 hours. The student assistant hired in the fall would have been invited to return had she not transferred to another university; one of the students who worked spring semester was invited to return.

Goals for Fiscal Year 2018 include reorganizing the cataloging space for improved efficiency and appearance.

Avon Williams Campus Library

Avon Williams Campus Library
Janet Walsh, Assistant Professor and Coordinator

The Avon Williams Campus Library supports the needs of patrons, faculty and staff. The patrons represent a cross section of departments served on the downtown campus and a vast number of commuter students who enjoy the quick, convenient and relevant library resources and services.

Supporting undergraduate and graduate majors in the College of Business, College of Health Sciences, College of Public Service and Urban Affairs, and College of Education requires us to utilize and seek additional ways to support library users. A continuing goal from the previous academic year was to incorporate a curious intellectual, social, and communal culture through relevant resources, engaging outreach, and creative programs. This focus has led to steady usage statistics, ongoing patron interaction, and community engagement.

Hands-on experience with library duties and responsibilities remains an integral of the Coordinator's position. By remaining up to date with current professional, technical, and social priorities of graduate students and students, one is able to offer creative and contemporary library services via traditional and revolutionary methods. These library practices, software, apps, and equipment have enhanced material circulation, software interfacing, and ongoing knowledge of cutting edge APPS and technical shortcuts used by students.

Some of my individual and collective activities and accomplishments:

Patron Interaction

- Individual Student Consultations: 57
 - 15 Doctoral Students
 - 5 Masters or EDS
 - 13 Seniors

- Answered phone calls daily
- Daily library closing routines
- Assisted in circulation and reserve services
- Answered reference questions as needed
- Boxed old PCS and equipment for Movable Property to pick up
- Assisted students to use copy machines
- Attended AWC library staff meetings
- Assisted students with computer, technology, and printing

Tonya Jones

Administrative Assistant IV

I. Needs and Actions:

A. Need: Periodicals Storage Space

Upon arrival to the Avon Williams Campus Library in February 2017 there were 5 carts, over 12 shelves, and multiple cabinets and drawers of periodical, newspapers, papers, old food/debris and books dating prior to 2005 stored in the periodicals storage space. There were mouse droppings in boxes, on carts, and on the desk.

Action taken by Dr. Jones:

Cleaned and organized the periodicals storage space.

B. Need: Current periodical stacks were in disarray.

Newspapers were mixed in with periodicals and unorganized. Browse section did not have proper signage. There were periodicals on the shelf dating back 2009. The labels at the end of the stacks did not match the journals on the stack. Labels were missing for journals on the shelves and there were labels for journals that were no longer available or not shelved.

Action taken by Dr. Jones:

- Created a section in the current periodical stacks for newspapers
- Added signs to the browse section and reorganized area alphabetically
- Created proper labels for the end of each stack to identify what is on each stack
- Compiled current periodical holding list of what was on the shelf
- Compared what was on our shelves to our current EBSCO list
- Made note of any discrepancies in order to rectify and bring current
- Compiled a list of all journals on the current periodical shelf that were dated 2016 and later
- Compared the list of our journals on the current periodical shelf that was dated 2016 or later to the current EBSCO listing to determine if these journals should be current
- Removed out of date issue from the current periodical stacks that were not on the current EBSCO listing and made note of any discrepancies in order to rectify and bring current
- Created labels for all current periodicals
- Compared labels that did not have current periodicals to the EBSCO listing to insure we should no longer receive the title

- Removed erroneous labels and made note of any discrepancies in order to rectify and bring current
- Created labels for current unlabeled periodicals
- Condensed and alphabetically organized current periodicals in stacks

C. Need: Bound Journal

The labels at the end of the stacks for the bound journals did not match what was on the stack. Bound Journals needed to be weeded from the system. There were errors on titles of bound journals.

Action taken by Dr. Jones:

- Created labels for the end of the stacks
- Weeded journals
- Updated labels as needed
- Corrected the spine of bound journals titles, dates, call numbers, volume numbers and issue numbers when noted or needed
- Periodically straighten bound journal stacks as needed

D. Need: Assisting with the Periodical Department

Upon arrival in February 2017 there were months of overflowing bins of journals and mail. Concise instruction was needed on how to do various aspects of jobs related to the periodicals department. Concise step-by- step verbal and written instructions were lacking. Disorganization in task assignments which can create the need to back track or redo jobs. Library staff lacked understanding on bindery process. Periodicals needed to go to bindery. Microfilm and microfiche drawers were out of order.

Action taken by Dr. Jones:

- The mail from the bins was sorted and delivered to appropriate personnel
- The periodicals from the bins were checked into Sierra, stamped, strip added, and put away
- Reorganized the microfilm and microfiche drawers.
- Learned Sierra: Search and Hold, Serial Check- in, Serials To Bindery/, and Serials Check in Bound
- Learned ABLE computer systems for bindery taught by Ernest Miah on main campus.
- Actively sought out guidance on main campus for bindery instruction from Ernest Miah and from Jean Pottenger at HF Group.
- Learning the system and anticipating need helps to eliminate the time consumption of back tracking or redoing jobs. Making list of what needs to be accomplish and finding the most efficient ways to get jobs done. However, trying to complete a task from start to finish is still difficult especially if the assignments are given with the wrong directions or are incomplete instructions.

- Created a manual for assisting in periodicals to give better direction on processes
- Created a bindery manual
- Organized bindery shelves in periodicals office
- Sent periodicals to bindery
- Daily Activities:
 - Sort mail
 - Open mail for Joyce Radcliff
 - Deliver mail for other personnel in appropriate personnel boxes
 - If mail or book/journal belongs to main campus, send it through campus mail or inter-departmental mail
 - Check in Newspapers, Journals, Loose Leafs (Give Value Line and School Line Reporter to Mr. Wang)
 - Put journals/newspapers in respective place
 - Straighten up the current issue journals and count usage on periodicals, & microfilm
- Assist students with library and computer needs. Walk the floor at least once per hour. Greet students as they enter the library or as you come in contact with me.
- Dedicate time at circulation desk
- Assist other library staff with needs. Examples include helping Mr. Chamberlin weed books.
- Worked on inventory of the Avon Williams Library book collection.
- Assisted with keeping the library tidy and organizing spaces
- Created six monthly calendars, updated 5 monthly bulletins and assisted with displays.
- Set up for artist reception. Organized the room for event. Used creativity in setting up for our guest. Ensured food and drinks were constantly stocked and guest needs were met. Assisted in break down and restoring library to daily activity set-up. Assisted with small details to continue professional growth.
- Created a summer Chinese Culture and Language Tutoring sessions between Mr. Wang and high school student studying Mandarin.
- Set up a job shadowing and student activism day for local high school student through our library.

- Ordered paper from RJ Young
- Installed printers on student computers
- Helped students learn how to save Elearn docs to usb or hard drive in order to print; if Windows Reader App would not allow printing, showed them how to use Adobe Reader instead.
- If elearn docs had no file extension, showed them how to add the extension appropriate to the Office program.
- Made spiral bound docs for students.
- Helped students to connect to TSU wireless
- Compiled monthly reference statistics.

Media Centers

Media Centers

Karen L. Gupton, Assistant Professor and Coordinator

The 2016-2017 academic/fiscal year was productive and rewarding for our two campus Media Centers. Both Media Centers support the needs of students, faculty and staff. Users represent a cross section of departments served on the main and downtown campuses and a large number of commuter students. We support undergraduate and graduate students in meeting their media and equipment needs. We strive to improve usage statistics and interaction annually.

Some changes were made in media purchasing this year. A decision was made to purchase the majority of media to be streamed instead of purchasing hard copies for the Media Center. Approximately three-fourths of titles purchased were to be streamed and the remaining one-quarter are hard copy DVDs. We continually strive to increase media usage and feel this is the best way to serve a larger number of students and faculty.

We continue to purchase media titles requested by faculty and equipment needed to support faculty and student needs. This year we purchased the following items: Pyle PWMA 200 Rechargeable Port; Cosco Clock sign, will return; Manfrotto 3 section Tripod W/502 Head; Manfrotto 502 Flat Base Head; Magnus Universal Tripod Dolly; Nikon D3300 AFS DX 55-200MM f/4-5.6; Watson En-El 14A Battery Pack F/Nikon; Nikon Gadget Bag & DVD Guide F/D3000; Nikon MC-D2 Remote Release Cord F/D9; Sandisk Extreme 16GB SDHC U3- 1 R90/W40M; Kopul Studio Cable/ XLR/M To XLR/F NT-20'/B; Comprehensive Cables Audio Adapter Kit w/ST; Insten 19.5 VCD Travel Charger/PDEL150TC01; and 2 ID Tech Omni Barcode Reader Bar code Badge Card Reader.

Our Media Specialist continue to work with students and faculty on computer projects, Digital recording of classroom culminating activities, lectures, and individual student and faculty projects. Faculty and students come from various departments across the main campus and the Avon Williams campus. We continue to have a budget which is inadequate to provide the media and equipment to serve faculty and students. I look forward to another successful year with the Media Center learning and keeping abreast of trends of media usage and format change.
