According to a report of a sub-committee of the State Board of Education to the board, there is need of extensive repairs and replacements to buildings and furniture at the college.

Since these findings the firm of McKissack and McKissack, Nashville Negro firm of architects, has been employed to make a survey and appraisal of the property.

Minor alterations and improvements have been made to accommodate an urgent need in living quarters and other improvements will no doubt be made as rapidly as service and materials are available.

Plans for the reorganization of the institution's course of study so as to conform to requirements for university training have been completed by the board.

Religious Emphasis Week Observed

Kwoh, World's Student Service Fund, China; Dr. Ross Snyder Theological Seminary, Chicago; Dr. Roger T. Nooe, Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville; Dr. Flenmie P. ## "The Role of the Scholar In The Post-War World" Central Theme of Alpha Kappa Mu National Convention

Delegates from eleven chapters of Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society were accorded the privilege of hearing eminent educators express their viewpoints concerning "The Role of the Scholar in the Post-War World" during their session at Atlanta University, January 27-28. Principal addresses were given by President Rufus C. Clement of Atlanta University, Dean B. R. Brazeal of Morehouse College, Dr. W. H. Gray of Florida Normal and Industrial College and Dr. I. A. Derbigny of Tuskegee, retiring president.

The following conclusions represent pertinent outgrowths of lectures and discussions:

1. The scholar of today must plan to assume tomorrow a position of leadership of the masses. This leadership must take place in three major phases of human life; economic, social and political. In planning to assume this leadership the scholar must realize that first of all he must prepare himself during the war period for effective participation during the post-war period, and that he must, in order to effectively lead the masses during the postwar period, integrate himself with the masses; not hold himself above them.

2. Effective Negro participation in the postwar world will depend on the ability of the Negro to focus his aims on some definite goal—political, economic, or social—that is, instead of stressing social equality, stress political or economic equality which will, automatically, include social equality insofar as it is feasible.

Featured among the items of business was the presentation by Miss Virgie Hale of the Alpha Kappa Mu song from our own Phi Beta Tau chapter, which was well received.

National officers elected for 1944-45 were: president, George W. Gore, Jr., Dean, A. and I. State College, Nashville; vice president, H. B. Young, '44, Arkansas State College, Pine Bluff, Arkansas; secretary-treasurer, Miss Dorinda Duncan, Tuskegee Institute, Alabama; assistant secretary, Miss Rose Jenkins, '44, A. and T. College,

Red Cross Drive Launched At A. and I.

In Chapel February 28, Miss Zelma L. Redmond, Chairman of the Red Cross Drive on the campus at Tennessee A. and I. State College, launched the Drive.

She stated that Reverend Henry A. Boyd, Chairman of the Negro Division, plans to make this effort the greatest in the history of Red Cross Drives. A mammoth parade down town and a mass meeting at the War Memorial Building will climax the movement.

Miss Redmond also outlined the Three-Point Program for the college as follows:

1. 100 per cent membership from students and teachers.
2. Band of solicitors for contest and winner to be acclaimed Red Cross Drive Queen.
3. Red Cross Dance.

The following team is working diligently with her in making the Drive a victory:

Dr. W. S. Davis, Dr. G. W. Gore, Dr. Thomas E. Poag, Mrs. A. D. Jones, Miss L. H. Daniel, Mrs. F. A. Sanders, Miss M. E. Clift, Prof. A. V. Boswell.

EXHIBITION REPRESENTS ART CRAFTS FROM TEN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

wood carving, felt craft, modeling and casting, Easter egg design, pillow lace, papier mache, paper formation and national costumes.

The exhibit was well attended by students, visitors, and especially the international guests who visited the campus and Sunday School at the close of the observance of Religious Emphasis Week.

It was most gratifying to the students, teachers and division heads to welcome Dr. Davis as our first attendant at the exhibit. Often times college presidents fail to realize that their presence at efforts of cultural value mean much to the success of the effort. We have noticed that Dr. Davis endorses our cultural gestures by his presence and commendation.

Miss Taylor enriched the minds of the students as she elaborated on the subject: "Youth in the Postwar World."

Among salient questions pointed out by Miss Taylor were: How are you going to fit into your job after graduation? What is going to be your place as a Negro in the world after the war? What preparation are you making to take a place in the postwar world?

Her message was stimulating and challenging to the members of the club who are preparing themselves to guide the destinies of the children who are the products of a world conflict. Mrs. F. A. Sanders is club adviser.

Lest We Forget

(Excerpts from an address delivered by Mrs. Edwyna R. Wilson on a patriotic program by members of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.)

Members of the A. and I. State College Sunday School:

Within the next forty-eight hours the minds of all Americans, here and in the various theatres of the war, will again recall a day two years ago, a day which stands out in our minds as a time when we were thrown in World War II as the result of one of the most abhorrent acts of aggression of this era. As deplorable and infamous as the Pearl Harbor incident was, it is not my intention to picture to you this incident as being inhuman and thereby fan the fires to your hatred of the Japanese as that is propaganda, a technique of war, which is being amply handled by the war agencies. It is not my intention to suggest that the Pearl Harbor incident was unique and peculiar as history is replete with examples of aggression of individuals, nations and races prior to Pearl Harbor, Manchukuo, Ethiopia, and the "protection" of the European countries by Germany. One needs only to recall a few to see this. The opening and exploitation of the dark continent by European powers were acts of aggression colored over by the assertions that Africa was being developed by exposure to European culture and civilization. The total result was the strengthening of the economic life of the Europeans at the expense of the Africans. The saying that the sun never sets on the British Empire indicates that Great Britain's sphere of influence has been the result of her many acts of aggression upon weaker peoples and thereby making their territory her own. In our country, the story of the Indians, including that of the removal of the Five Civilized Tribes from their homes in the Southeast to a restricted area in the Midwest to make way for the white man, was an act of aggression upon a peaceful people. Our securing of the Philippine Islands from Spain was an aggressive act as has been shown by our reluctance in the past to give our brown brothers their independence.

It is my intention to point out to you the Pearl Harbor Incident, as a symbol of an unhealthy condition among nations that has existed throughout the ages and will continue to exist unless it is understood and something is done about it; to suggest some of the possible causes of this unhealthy condition which breeds wars, and to indicate your role in the post war period; so that you may contribute to preventing the Pearl Harbors of the World and aid in establishing a world in which all men are considered brothers and are allowed to develop to their fullest.

What then is Pearl Harbor? I would suggest it as a term symbolic of aggression. I would suggest it as a wrong set of values, as the idea of strength of nations being measured by might rather than the extent to which they provide security necessary to the greatest development of their citizens. I would suggest it as an act against imagined or sometimes actual injustices, as in the case of the Japanese who resented the penetration of the East by the Western powers. It is a defense reaction against thwarting. It is an act of self-justification or rationalization. Examples of this are the white man's explanation of this treatment of the Indians and the Italian's aggression against the Ethiopians. It is a paranoiac phenomenon of individuals, groups, races and nations as has been shown by the exaggerated importance of people. The saying, "Germany for the Master Race," is an evidence of this. All of these expressions are indicative of the social immaturity and lack of breadth of vision of the aggressors and the victims.

You may ask what will be some of the problems with which the world will be faced in the Post-War period and to what extent we may participate in the solution of these problems. Wars are demoralizing. They tend to retard civilization in various ways. Following wars, we find a large per cent of hungry, homeless, diseased people whose greatest interest is primarily to be fed, housed, to be made healthy. Wars disrupt the normal economic life. To be sure during wars, defense jobs flourish and everyone works. After wars, the entire economic life must be regeared to peacetime needs—a condition which tends to increase employment. Family and social relationships are disrupted in war time and readjustments are often difficult. Educational emphases which have been on military and vocational needs need reemphasis with greater attention to the social sciences and the arts—man will need to have an even greater understanding of social institutions, groups and nations, and an appreciation of the arts if they are to aid in resurrecting a broken world. There will be a greater need of a world acceptance of a religious philosophy which will influence men to recognize the "Brotherhood of Man" and to practice without reservation the Golden Rule. . . .

As little as one may realize it, the training that the youth are getting today in the colleges, the defense plants, the farms, the armed services, and all essential work is a sort of a laboratory training wherein they are beginning to investigate and attack many of the problems with which nations in the post-war period will be concerned. They are learning to attack with such problems as food, clothing, and shelter for the conquered peoples; and a fair and just distribution of the world territories. . . .

One need not be a Home Economist or an Agriculturist to know what constitutes a balanced diet, how to produce and prepare inexpensive, wholesome foods. One need not be a scientist or a physician to know how disease saps the strength of a nation and how healthful living contributes to its well-being. One need not be an architect or builder to understand and appreciate the need for homes being constructed for healthful living. The association of youth racial groups in the colleges, religious organizations, industries, and in the armed forces should aid in better understanding of our adversaries in this war and should aid in the formulating of a sound world policy with regard to our treatment as victors of the vanquished. Our contacts with the arts as students, workers, and fighters should acquaint us with their value as a morale builder, or a type of recreational therapy, to counteract the demoralizing influences of war. In short, all of our experiences should make us more conscious of what we need for ourselves if we are to be a stronger and a more vigorous people. What do we then as Negroes desire for ourselves? As a remote objective, we desire freedom from discrimination and a state of world brotherhood.

Although very few of us will have the opportunity to participate directly in the post war rehabilitation programs, we can through clarifying our own thinking on world problems aid in the formulation of sound world opinion. . . .

May we on the approaching anniversary of Pearl Harbor recall it not with bitterness nor regard it as unique,

ACTIVITIES OF THE LIBERAL ARTS DIVISION

Prof. Merl R. Eppse, Director

The many activities of the Winter Quarter were shared by the Liberal Arts Division. Prof. Sidney Harris, principal of the Bedford County Training School, was the main speaker of the Sunday School, on February 13.

Mrs. Wilhemina Simpson-Robinson, a graduate of Tennessee State College, who holds a Masters Degree from Columbia University, has been employed at Wilberforce University, as a teacher in the field of Education.

Negro History Week was observed on the campus. This year, instead of bringing forth distinguished Negroes from other places, we dug in and found that we had over one hundred (100) Negroes who had attended or graduated from Tennessee State College. Among the many who returned to the campus was William Redmond, Franklin, Tennessee. He is the one Negro who entered suit for admission to the University of Tennessee; Scott Grinstead, Curator of Negro Book Collection, Fisk University; Irene Rucker, Meharry Medical College, who is preparing to be a medical missionary to Africa and twenty-six (26) faculty members of the college.

Among them were Mrs. Alma Dunn-Jones, Miss Frances E. Thompson, Miss Mildred Clift, Miss Marie Grant, Miss Modestine Young, Messrs. Neal McAlpin, Robert Bailey, Mrs. P. W. Gore, Miss E. Vernon, Mrs. Mary Forbes-Carter, Mrs. Kathryn McKinney, Miss Christine Alexander, President and Mrs. W. S. Davis and many others.

The Dramatic Club presented a very moving and touching play, "Our Town." It was well received. Dr. Thomas E. Poag is the director.

Many of the faculty members of the Liberal Arts division, have been participating in off-campus activities. They are: Mrs. A. Dunn-Jones, Prof. A. V. Boswell, Prof. M. R. Eppse, Dr. T. E. Poag, Prof. R. A. Wilson and Prof. F. J. D. McKinney.

DEPARTMENT OF THE HUMANITIES

Dr. Thomas E. Poag, Head of Speech and Drama

Inez Crutchfield Replaces Elaine Sherrill in "Our Town"

When the Tennessee State Players Guild presents "Our Town" on Friday evening, March 3, 1944, Nashville, will see a new Theatre Guild actress in the person of Inez Crutchfield, a freshman and also an outstanding athlete at Tennessee State College. Mrs. Crutchfield replaced Miss Elaine Sherrill in the leading feminine role in "Our Town" when serious illness prevented her from playing the role. Mrs. Crutchfield is expected to give a realistic interpretation in the role of "Emily."

MRS. MATTYE COPELAND FLOWERS, A. B. Lane College; Graduate Work, Southern Illinois Normal University; M. S., Iowa State College; Department of Home Economics.

Marjorie Settles, a junior at A. and I. State College, beautifully portrays the part of "Mrs. Gibbs," the Doctor's wife, in this production. Miss Settles is an old member of the Tennessee State Players Guild, having appeared in the production "Old Man Pete" and others.

Mildred Bethea, a new member of the Guild, portrays the part of the editor's wife, "Mrs. Webb." Miss Bethea is a freshman at A. and I. and this is her first appearance with the Players Guild.

An excellent interpretation of the characters, "Mrs. Sloans" and "Rebecca Gibbs" are portrayed by Miss Myrtle Sloan and Miss Adabelle Ashley respectively. Both of these young ladies are freshmen at A. and I. and this is their first appearance with the Tennessee State Players Guild.

Excellent male roles in the production of "Our Town" are rendered by Mr. Benjamin Saulter as "Howie Newsome," Mr. Robert Whyte as "Editor Webb," Mr. Lawrence Young as "Constable Warren," Mr. Luther Campbell as "Joe Stoddard," and Mr. Edward Reed as "Sam Craig."

Seniors in "Our Town"

Roy B. J. Campbell, Jr., graduating senior at A. and I., takes the leading part of Stage Manager. The uplifting but strenuous role is excellently handled by Mr. Campbell. He has appeared in many Players Guild productions, some of which are: "No

'Count Boy," "The Male Animal," "Every Man" and "Nothing But the Truth." Maurice Hickman plays the part of George Webb, a heart stirring role, which is magnificently portrayed by this actor with such a human air about him. You have seen him play in many Players Guild productions, of which the most outstanding were: "Old Man Pete," "Adam and Eve," "The Slave with Two Faces," and "Nothing But the Truth."

Cecil Armillo Partee takes the part of Dr. Gibbs in "Our Town." He makes this role come alive in a remarkable manner. He has taken a major part in Players Guild activities and starred in several major productions, some of which are "Bad Man," "Death Takes a Holiday" and "Pete" in "Old Man Pete."

Gladys Holt is the beautiful scholarly director of effects for the production "Our Town." The charming Miss Holt has taken a conscientious part in the activities of the Players Guild and other organizations on the campus. She appeared last year in "The Slave with Two Faces."

John Frank Taylor takes the part of the "Professor" and gives it the spice of gentle humor. This is Mr. Taylor's first production.

James Wilson McMillan plays the part of "Joe," a character known and loved by the occupants of "Our Town." This is Mr. McMillan's first role with the Players Guild. He is a member of the Concert Singers.

There is no scenery in "Our Town." The imagination of the audience is very important in helping to create the scenes. An admission will be charged the general public as a contribution to the scholarship fund of the Players Guild.

Romance Languages

The Spanish Club, Los Buenos Vecinos, will present the chapel program on Thursday, April 13th, celebrating Pan-American Day. Devotions will be conducted in Spanish by members of the club. The principal address will be delivered by Rev. E. G. Morgado, native of Cuba and at present at Scarritt College. His subject will be: "A Place for the Language Student in Post-war Latin America."

Members of the French Club, "Les Amis de la France" are preparing a skit from "Le Cid" by Corneille as their contribution to "An Evening with the 17th Century Writers" which is to be presented by the English Department under the sponsorship of Miss L. M. Averitte.

Mrs. Alma T. Watkins is adviser to the clubs.

CONGRATULATIONS

PROF. WALTER ALBERT FLOWERS, B. S., Alcorn College; M. S., Iowa State College; Department of Agriculture.

Agricultural News

On February 26, 1944 Professor W. A. Flowers, head of the Department of Agriculture, attended the district meeting of teachers of West Tennessee at Brownsville, Tennessee. A program for the N. F. A., methods of teaching, and rural war production was discussed. Emphasis was stressed on production of food by farm families. Professor Flowers was guest speaker at a father and son banquet sponsored by the Home Economics and Agriculture departments of Haynes High School. The address, "New Farmer's of America, Americas' most courageous Citizens" brought forth wide applause. Dr. Davis and Mr. R. E. Clay made remarks.

With the sale of the old herd of dairy cows another step was made in keeping with the institution's policy to effect improvement. The herd will be replaced by another one of highest standards.

The annual convention of the N. F. A. will be held at A. and I. State College on April 6th, 7th, and 8th. The theme will be "War Efforts as Related to Farmers." Contests, public speaking, and quizzes with the delegates as the participants will be included in the program.

Prof. Neal McAlpin was principal speaker at the "Father and Son—Mother and Daughter" banquet held in Clarksville, on February 25.

The affair was sponsored by the Home Economics and Agriculture Departments of Burt High School.

"LEST WE FORGET"

but resolve, that through a better understanding of its causes and consequences aid in formulating a world opinion that will recognize the dignity of man and will serve to prevent the Pearl Harbors of the World. For then the bloodshed and suffering of men on the battlefields of the world will not be in vain. For that we pray, oh God! "Lest we forget."

SPORTS

Charles J. Smith

After an absence of three years from collegiate competition the Tigers returned to the hardwood to open the 1943-44 season. Playing inter-sectional games rather than conference games, the Tigers met most of the top flight teams of the South including Tuskegee Institute, Florida A. and M., Alabama State, Fisk University, Arkansas A. and M., and Meharry Medical College. In the southern competition the Tigers scored four straight victories over the hopeless Arkansas A. and M. Lions.

One of the most exciting, breath-taking games ever witnessed in Nashville was played when the Fisk Bulldogs met the Tennessee State Tigers. For three (3) quarters the Tigers led the Bulldogs. With only two minutes left to play the Bulldogs came from behind to take a one-point lead. Despite the desperate chances taken by the Tigers Captain Buie, the One-arm Wizard, failed to make the winning point. Final score was 44-45.

On February 26 the Tigers led the high flying 'Bama State Hornets, but lost the game, with only two minutes remaining, to a score of 44-37. Playing Northern teams the Tigers defeated the West Virginia Yellow-jackets' 31-21. The Kentucky State Thoroughbreds lowered the Tigers' winning status to a defeat of 39-21.

Basketball closes with two games with Lincoln University (Missouri) on March 17th and 18th.
